DEDICATION SERVICE

OCTOBER 29, 1967

DEDICATION

To the Past . . . from whence we draw courage

To the Present . . . to which we give our strength

To the Future . . . toward which we look with hope

To THE ETERNAL GOD . . . who is our courage, our strength, our hope . . .

We dedicate this brochure.

DEDICATION PRAYER

Our Father, whose grace has seen us through difficult days, may thy love and mercy be ever proclaimed from the lips of those who worship in this thy house. We praise thee for the great privilege we have had in building such a place of worship, and we offer this work of our hands to thee, with a prayer for thy Spirit to dwell here until our Lord and Saviour returns to call us home.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

This is surely the greatest day in the history of our church, and I am grateful to God for the opportunity I have had to offer guidance to you as you built a house of worship.

The dedication of this building to God should be a solemn act of consecration on the part of each of us who holds membership in this church. We dedicate the building to God, but equally as important is the need to dedicate ourselves to Him. The construction of the building has been a work of love and sacrifice on the part of many of us, but all of this will have little effect on a lost world unless we ourselves are firmly committed to God.

It pleases me greatly, and humbles me as well, to be pastor of this church at this exciting time. The future is bright with the promise of evangelism, witness, stewardship, and Christian growth. This magnificent building will enable each of us to carry out our task more effectively, and help us reach our potential for Christ.

May God's richest blessings continue to rest upon us as we seek His will and purpose for the church.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR MINISTER OF MUSIC AND EDUCATION

How grateful we are that God has brought us to this wonderful day. Surely this building is one of the crowning acts in the history of our church. I know that all of us are thankful for those many folks who labored before us, who in some measure have made this great accomplishment possible.

I am pleased to have been your minister of music and education for these years, and for the progress that has been made in this phase of our work. On this dedication day, may all of us face with a renewed commitment the challenges and tasks that are ahead of us. God has given to everyone of us the responsibility of spreading His gospel here, and unto the ends of the earth. With His help and power, this great task can be achieved as we pray, work, and witness through this church He has given us.

As our choir sings today the arrangement of "To God Be The Glory . . . Great Things He Hath Done," this thought will surely be uppermost in all of our hearts and minds. May the Lord guide, bless, and use all of us, as we dedicate to Him this wonderful building.

THE ARCHITECT'S CONCEPT OF FLORENCE BAPTIST CHURCH

Religious architecture should not assert power and mastery over people but act as a servant to them. Over two years of planning was directed toward this end, climaxed by fifteen months of construction, the end result being this beautiful house of God.

Externally, this building is intended to be a statement to the church members and to the community that here is a building to shelter and encourage the exercise of worship and to provide a center for fellowship and service activities. Through experiences with the program and personal contact and conversation with the committeemen and minister, there developed the feeling that the external appearance of this church should reflect the solid foundations of this denomination.

Today's materials have been used with a certain respect for tradition. The gable roof form evolved to permit a pleasant visual tie to the existing church building. The massive stone work, added to the front facade of the original building, acts to separate the new from the old, yet is repeated in the steeple base and end wall of the Baptistry to unify the two periods of construction. Just as Jesus' teachings of the past are used to bring enlightenment to today's world, so is stained glass, a material of the past, used in today's buildings. As we view the exterior, we see that the tall, slender bronze windows are planned to accent the verticality of the church. The main entrance doors, high and wide, may be thought of as extending a visual welcome to enter and participate. The front glass wall, which encloses the church and ministry offices, is intended to be "the connecting link" between the past and present. The soaring steeple, resting on its solid stone base, is a contemporary concept in the use of a traditional church form. A steeple, it is often said, is an attempt of man to reach the Heavens wherein resides God, the Creator of all. The steeple, as an architectural element, can be said to remind us all of the religious upbringing of our founding fathers who assured us of the religious freedom we enjoy today.

As we pass through the main entrance we enter the spacious vestibule. This is the gathering place. The place where worshipers should prepare themselves prior to entering the sanctuary. The glass wall, which separates the vestibule from the sanctuary, along with sound speakers in the wall, permit those who arrive after the beginning of services, to enter the sanctuary at the proper time. Also, on special occasions, the vestibule can accommodate additional seating. This area is also the focal point of the internal circulation through the total church building.

In cooperation with the appointed committees and religious leaders, the sanctuary was designed so that it might assist in the worship program, not alter it. The spaciousness of the sanctuary was designed to architecturally express the vastness of the mystery of our religion. Just as Christianity overcomes the dullness of ordinary living, and adds purpose to our very being, so does the softly patterned walls, rich and warm wood panels of the Chancel walls, by creating dignity and character, overcome the dull and ordinary in church architecture. The walnut and batten screens on the upper Chancel walls, help frame the focal point of the sanctuary.

The Table and Pulpit are very simple expressions of the use for which they are intended, of a white finish to symbolize the purity of their purpose. The Baptistry, high above the choir, is placed to be viewed with ease by everyone in the sanctuary. The screen used here is the same as used in the Chancel screen, but in larger scale for emphasis and to unify the total end of the Chancel. The natural stone wall behind the Baptistry not only provides a pleasant contrast in color and material, but is used because it is material common to bodies of water.

Just as Christianity is to tear away the false and reveal the truth, so the wood beams, columns and roof deck express a structural truth and are left exposed for all to see.

In conclusion, the concept of both the internal and external design of this church was to provide a structure which would add to the culture of the community and provide for the congregation a church compatible to their plan and order of worship.

Robert Campbell,
first mission pastor from the
Florence Baptist Church.

Greenview Chapel,
first mission established by the
Florence Baptist Church.

THE CHURCH'S HISTORY

The Florence Baptist Church was organized in 1855 with seven members who had received letters of dismissal from the Dry Creek Baptist Church for the purpose of organizing a church at Florence, Boone County, Kentucky. The seven original members were Benjamin Dulaney, Leonard Stephens, D. M. Scott, Henry T. Snyder, Sally Snyder, Polly Scott, and Louisiana Finch.

Land was purchased from the Wilhoit family for $450.00. A small church building was erected on this lot. No records were preserved from 1855 to 1900. However, some facts from old associational records show that in 1880 there were 48 members, and in 1890 the number had increased to 90.

A Sunday school was organized in 1880 and by 1882, there was an average attendance of 23. In 1884, the Sunday school discontinued services but was reorganized in 1885 with an enrollment of 65 and an average attendance of 35.

The church closed its doors in 1898 and remained closed for more than a year. The only services held during this period were weddings. Records of this period are incomplete, and the history of the church during this trying time is largely unknown.

In 1908 the church was reorganized, and the treasurer's report shows total expenses for the year of $278.30, including pastor's salary, mission gifts, repairs, and incidental items. The church yard was rented for grazing stock, and a total of $5.00 was received for this purpose. The balance for the year was $25.18.

In 1912, a Woman's Missionary Society was organized, and there was general progress and growth through the years of World War I, and the roaring Twenties.

In 1942, Reverend Harold Wainscott was called as pastor, and under his leadership the first Vacation Bible School was held the following year. A Bible School has been held continuously ever since, except for 1966, and there was no Bible School that year because of the construction of the new sanctuary. The Training Union was reorganized in 1948 with Seward Abbott as the first director.

One of the outstanding highlights of this period was the appointment of Miss Jean Bach to be a missionary to Nigeria, Africa. Jean was the first member of the church to give herself for foreign service, and sailed for Nigeria in October, 1948. She is now married to Mr. Graham Hutchings and lives in London, England.

Reverend C. L. Leopard became pastor of the church in 1949, and the following year a Brotherhood was organized. In July 1950, an adjoining lot was purchased for $7,000.00.

In October 1952, Reverend Roy Johnson became pastor. Church membership at the time was 459, with a Sunday school enrollment of 286. On May 7, 1954, construction began on an educational building containing 29 classrooms. It was completed and dedicated on April 3, 1955. The 100th Anniversary of the church was celebrated at this same time.

On November 3, 1955, Bob Campbell was ordained to the ministry. He is today serving as a Southern Baptist Chaplain with the United States Army.

Reverend Bob Couch was called as pastor in November 1958. During his ministry double services of worship were conducted on Sunday morning, the first full time staff member was called, Brother Bob Hickman, a mission at Greenview was organized and flourishes as a strong church today, and preliminary plans for a new sanctuary were discussed.

In October 1963, Reverend Jack Sanford was called as pastor. Under his ministry the church decided to build on this site, an architect was commissioned, plans were drawn, and the present building was constructed.

The following figures reveal some of the progress and growth of the church through the past years:

Membership as of July 1, 1967	1,065
Resident Members	882
Sunday School Enrollment	977
Average Attendance	489
Total Receipts	$94,825.00
Mission Expenditures	$15,509.00
Training Union Enrollment	169
Average Attendance	93
Vacation Bible School Enrollment	303
W.M.U. Enrollment	194
Total Value of Church Property	$690,000.00

Vows Of Dedication

Chairman Of Building Committee: On behalf of the Building Committee of this church, I do now present this building to be dedicated to the glory of God and to the service of man.

Chairman Of The Deacons: On behalf of the members of our church, I do now accept this building to be dedicated and set apart for the worship of Almighty God and for the service of all men. The congregation will now stand as the pastor leads in the dedication of this building to its sacred and proper uses.

Pastor: Believing that the hand of God has led us in the planning and construction of this building, let all the people unite in offering it unto Him for His worship and glory. Having been prospered by the hand of our Lord, and being mindful of our duty as good stewards of the talents entrusted to us,

People: With joyful and grateful hearts we dedicate this building to God, who has loved us, who has blessed us, and who has led us in the task.

Pastor: For great is our God above all gods.

People: But who is able to build him a house, seeing the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain him?

Pastor: Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it.

People: Except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain.

Pastor: How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts!

People: My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh cried out for the living God.

Pastor: Blessed are they that dwell in Thy house.

People: They will be still praising Thee.

Pastor: Led, as we believe, by the Spirit of God to erect this house of God, we now solemnly and joyfully dedicate it to His work and worship. In the name of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit.

People: We dedicate this house.

Pastor: For Christian worship; for praise and prayer; for the preaching of the gospel; for the observance of the ordinances; for the offering of our grateful gifts;

People: We dedicate this house.

Pastor: For the supremacy of the Scripture; for the adoration of God; for the exaltation of Christ; for the acknowledgment of the Holy Spirit;

People: We dedicate this house.

Pastor: For the pursuit of truth and freedom; for the instruction and training of youth; for the development of manhood; for the development of womanhood; for the culture of all the people;

People: We dedicate this house.

Pastor: For comfort to the sorrowing; for support to the weak; for help to the needy; for charity to the wayward; for sympathy to the suffering; for salvation to the sinning; for love to all;

People: We dedicate this house.

Pastor: For the preservation of the Lord's Day; for the sanctity and unity of the home; for the maintenance of missionary and denominational interests; for the annihilation of intemperance; for obedience to law; for the perpetuation of patriotism; for the recognition of social obligations; for the extension of the kingdom of God among men;

People: We dedicate this house.

Pastor: For ourselves, our children, and our children's children;

People: We dedicate this house.

Pastor: In grateful recognition of the noble leadership of former pastors and the faithful labors of former members; in affectionate remembrance of our beloved dead whose prayers and gifts are joined with ours today; in the name of all whose sacrificial co-operation has converted a brave dream into beautiful reality;

People: We dedicate this house, and rededicate ourselves to God.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The people listed below actually put together first the ideas, then the brick and stone which resulted in one of the most beautiful worship centers in our state. We gratefully acknowledge the skill and dedication of these master workmen. It is through their generosity that this brochure is made available to our congregation.

The generations to come will praise these fine men for the excellence of their work, as we praise them on the Dedication Day for the part they played in helping us build this house of God.
